Real Living Welcomes Leader of Dayton Market

John Nadler, Past President of Signature GMAC Real Estate joins Real Living Dayton as Regional VP

Dayton, Ohio – (July 19, 2004) – Real Living, the fifth-largest residential real estate firm in the nation, today announced that John Nadler will join its leadership team, serving as regional vice president of Dayton and Greater Miami Valley.

Prior to joining Real Living, Nadler served the President and Chief Operating Officer of Signature GMAC Real Estate in Orlando, Florida, a brokerage he launched in 1994 and established as a prominent Central Florida real estate company over the next 10 years.

“We were very impressed by the great success John experienced when he launched an established real estate brand in a new market in Florida,” said Bill Evans, vice president of sales for central Ohio and Dayton. “We’re looking forward to leveraging that experience to help Real Living continue to grow in Dayton and Greater Miami Valley.

In his new position, Nadler will report directly to Evans, and will oversee offices in Springboro, Centerville, Beavercreek and Englewood, in addition to 120+ sales associates. First among his growth priorities will be recruiting more outstanding sales associates to join the Real Living Dayton team.

“Real Living has grown steadily since first entering the Dayton market just two years ago,” said Nadler. “I look forward to working with our outstanding agents to continue to grow marketshare throughout Dayton and the Greater Miami Valley, through acquisitions and recruitment.”

Nadler said that Real Living’s innovative brand, industry-leading technology and aggressive growth plans are what attracted him to this leadership opportunity.

“Real Living offers tremendous technology for both agent and consumer. They’re one of the most progressive real estate firms in the nation, and I’m thrilled to be part of this high-energy, high-growth team.”

Nadler is relocating his wife, Nancy and 4 children the Springboro area.
